

Job Req#: 1064 – Senior QC Associate

La Jolla Biologics is a biologic pharmaceutical product development and manufacturing organization aiming to provide high quality, value added capabilities to accelerate the introduction of biologic therapeutics to the global market. We currently have an opportunity for a Sr. QC Associate at our location in San Diego, CA.

Job Summary:

The Senior QC Associate is responsible for routine and non-routine product testing using biochemical methods such as: SDS-PAGE, HPLC, CE-SDS, ELISA, Cell based bioassay, etc. Candidate demonstrates initiative to perform QC responsibilities such as sample coordination, lab equipment maintenance, QC document management, QC inventory control and reconciliation of sample requests/documents as needed. Additional responsibilities may include assisting with transferring analytical methods from development into the QC laboratory and test method validation. Generates test results and report results for the assigned GMP testing in a timely and compliant manner. Knowledge of performing and validating HPLC assays in a GMP environment is essential.

Requires a Bachelor's Degree in a related science such as a Biology or Biochemistry with minimum 7+ yrs experience, or a Master's Degree with 5+ years' Quality Control experience in GMP biopharmaceutical or biotechnology industry. Candidate should have working knowledge of GMP regulations and experience with regulatory compliance inspections. Knowledge of using chromatographic software is essential.